The Story in Scripture

edited by A. B. and G. HENTON DAVIES A shortened version of the Revised Standard Version of the Holy Bible, particularly intended for the growing reading public interested in religion, but likely to be intimidated by the full-length Bible. This is not an anthology of selected passages, but a narrative in the RSV text rearranged in chronological order, divided into chapters, and set as a normal book for easy reading. Introduction to the historical and geographical background, explanatory notes, table of main events and dates, index of persons and place-names. Sponsored by the Adult Education Committee of the British Council of Churches. 27 halftone plates and 6 maps 7⅛" × 4¾" 312 pp shortly 12*s* 6*d*

The first volume in a new geographical survey

Regions of the British Isles

GENERAL EDITOR W. GORDON EAST MA
Professor of Geography, Birkbeck College,
University of London

An important new survey for which the enquiring general reader and the student of geography have had long to wait, this is a uniform series of authoritative geographical studies of the major parts of the British Isles. Every region is examined as it now appears, before turning back to the past of geological and human history. Each volume is generously illustrated with photographs, line drawings and maps, including a full-colour fold-in map of the region, with a detailed and informative index.

NORTH ENGLAND

A. E. SMAILES MA Professor of Geography in the University of London This first volume is devoted to Westmorland, Cumberland, Northumberland and Durham. The book establishes basic facts about the region's rocks and soils, local differences of land, its settlement and development, and then examines its industries and mines, natural amenities, historic sites and monuments. 45 halftone plates, 66 maps, fold-in colour map

ALPHABETICAL

AUTHOR, TITLE AND SUBJECT

SECTION

When you wish to know what books are available on a subject or by an author consult this index first

ALPHABETICAL AUTHOR, TITLE AND SUBJECT SECTION

This Section contains entries or reference entries under authors, titles, editors, translators, series and subjects in one alphabetical sequence.

The entry under the author gives, in an abbreviated form, most of the information to be found in the entry in the Classified Subject Section. If a fuller description is required, the entry in the Classified Subject Section can be found by means of the decimal code number at the end of the author entry.

If the editor, translator, title or series only is known, it will be necessary to refer back to the entry in this Section under the author's name. For example, if you look up the title Green salads you will find the entry:

Green salads. See Johnstone, Viola.

To find details of this book and its decimal code number, it is necessary to refer to the entry in this index under

Johnstone, Viola. Green salads. Jenkins, 3/6. 641.83 (B59-3435)

If you wish to know what books have been published on a particular subject consult this Section under the name of the subject. Here again you will find a decimal code number which must be sought in the Classified Subject Section.

It will be found most convenient to look up the specific name of the subject, for this will refer you directly to the decimal code number under which books on that subject are to be found. However, if you look up another word concerned with the subject you will find that the decimal code number for this word will refer you to a part of the Classified Subject Section so close to the subject you require that the eye will be quickly led to it by the captions and "feature words" appearing against the numbers.

Even though you may be familiar with the arrangement of the Classified Subject Section, it is always advisable to consult this index first.

An explanation of the abbreviations used in describing books in the Bibliography and further details for tracing information are given in the Preface.
